FOOD POISONING FROM NOROVIRUS

From December to March cases of food poisoning from Norovirus are occurring often. To prevent this from happening, make sure to wash your hands thoroughly, and do things like clean and sanitize your dishes with hot water after each use and cook food to and keep it at 85 degrees Celsius or above for at least a minute. Symptoms like abdominal pain, fever, diarrhea and vomiting appear one to two days after contracting the virus. While the virus goes away normally after about two days and there are no symptoms after recovery, it takes about a week to fully recover. Please refrain from returning to work or school immediately after all symptoms are gone.
